

Butterflies by: Madison Mar

A world without change is a world without butterflies,

And a world without butterflies

Is a world that never changed.

With change comes butterflies;

Beauty where there was not,

Improvements made to what wasn't yet complete.

A world without change would be a world filled with caterpillars,

And where's the fun in that?